

TODAY, WE STAND READY TO WORK WITH PRESIDENT-ELECT OBAMA TO HELP ENSURE AN EVEN BRIGHTER TOMORROW.

Dominion is proud to congratulate the new president—and we pledge to work with him and his administration to help improve our energy policies and enhance our energy security.

As President-elect Barack Obama and his new administration prepare to take office, we're preparing too—preparing to stand alongside our new president as he confronts the challenges of building national energy policies to meet the demands of 21st century America and the world.

As one of the nation's largest producers of energy, and a company comprised of hard-working Americans dedicated to turning problems into progress, Dominion is proud that American energy independence is high on President-elect Obama's agenda. Because, as America has shown so many times before, when we stand together, we can accomplish anything.

We applaud the president-elect's economy-wide approach to creating a cleaner environment through policies that call for tougher fuel economy standards, increased use of plug-in hybrids, and tax credits for the purchase of advanced-technology vehicles.

Dominion welcomes the president-elect's call for the development and deployment of clean-coal technologies that will enable us to use our abundant domestic coal resources to meet America's growing need for energy. We also commend his commitment to conservation and the goal of weatherizing 1 million homes annually. And we support the incoming administration's renewed focus on the responsible production of natural gas here in the United States, an important part of our energy future.

At Dominion, we see tremendous opportunities in the days ahead. So as we reach out to congratulate President-elect Obama with one hand, we're rolling up our sleeves with the other.
