

EVERY DAY

SOME OF THE MOST IMPORTANT ENERGY WE GENERATE
COMES FROM THE POWER OF THE HUMAN SPIRIT.

Project Healing Waters connects wounded warriors with fly-fishing experts and guides from across the country, taking veterans from the front lines and giving them fishing lines. And somewhere between the quiet of nature and the clear, cold waters of those trout streams, we hope they'll find just a little more peace...and just a little more healing. At Dominion, support for our troops goes back generations—and we're proud that Project Healing Waters is now a part of it. It's a commitment we're dedicated to honoring, both when our soldiers are overseas and when they return. In fact, sometimes that's exactly when veterans need our energy the most. It may be a program about fishing. But this isn't about the one that got away. This is about the ones who come home.

To learn more about Project Healing Waters, visit ProjectHealingWaters.org.

