

We're planting ideas for a greener tomorrow.

Dominion knows that if anyone has the power to change the world, it's our children. That's why we created Project Plant It!, an innovative program that teaches students about the importance of trees and how to protect the environment. Project Plant It! includes interactive classroom lessons and provides each student with a tree seedling to plant at school or at home. Dominion provides this program at no cost to more than 34,000 elementary school students in areas served by the company. By planting these positive ideas, we're empowering the next generation to make their neighborhoods and the world a better place to live.
